GREAT IMPETUS TO FOOD DRIVE

60 FARMERS AND BUSINESS MEN AT RALLY TODAY.

R. A. KINNAIRD IS UNIVERSITY SPEAKER

Urges Formation of Community Clubs to Co-operate With University Extension Department.

An evidence of the hold which the food conservation idea has taken of the farmers of Nodaway county may be seen by the large crowd who have come in spite of bad roads from all districts to attend the food rally being held at the court house this afternoon.

R. A. Kinnaird, formerly head of the department of agriculture of the State Normal school, member of the Extension Division, represented the College of Agriculture of the University of Missouri at the meeting, and explained to the sixty farmers and business men in the audience, the purpose of the organization which he had come to Maryville to form.

Mr. Kinnaird's work in this section of the country will be to organize the counties of Atchison and Nodaway so that every section will be enlisted in the great food campaign. After conferring with the farmers at the meeting, he arranged the following speaking dates for the rest of the week, during which time he will visit the various towns and address the farmers in the vicinity:

Friday evening at 8 p. m., Clearmont.
Saturday afternoon at 3 p. m., Maryville.
Saturday evening at 8 p. m., Conception.
Sunday morning, 10 a. m., Arkoe.
Sunday afternoon, 3 p. m., Clyde.
Monday night, 8 p. m., Ravenwood.
Tuesday evening, 8 p. m., Parnell.
Wednesday evening, 8 p. m., Pickering.
Thursday evening, 8 p. m., Elmo.
Friday evening 8 p. m., Guilford.
Saturday afternoon, 3 p. m., Skidmore.

"It is our purpose," said Mr. Kinnaird, "to organize the farmers of the entire country in a campaign for increasing the food supply of the country so that we may not only supply ourselves with the necessary food stuffs but also contribute our surplus to the allied nations in their war with Germany.

"We sent out a call to all of the school districts of the state to select a committeeman to form a county organization which will be made permanent and also to encourage the starting of numerous Community clubs which we propose to organize.

"The farmers of this county from these Community clubs and the representatives of those clubs in the county organization will constitute a County farm bureau, and through this bureau, the Extension Department of the College of Agriculture will work to increase the production in the United States and also to conserve the food supply.

"It is necessary for the farmers to realize," added Mr. Kinnaird, "that the men behind the plow is just as essential to the welfare for the nation as the man behind the gun, and the increased crop production made possible by the interest of the farmers will do as much toward bringing a sure victory as the efficient training of soldiers."

Mr. Kinnaird then outlined a plan for forming the Community clubs and set dates for the meetings at these places.

Many members of the township committees recently appointed by the Nodaway Central Food committee were present and expressed a desire to cooperate in any movement instituted by the College of Agriculture.

The invitation of the Business Girls to the residents of Maryville to attend the open session of the Business Girls' club met with a hearty response, more than 150 persons being present at the program.

Mrs. I. E. Tulloch, one of the patronesses of the organization gave the welcome address and Mrs. L. E. White gave a talk on the aims and prospects of the Business Girls' club in Maryville. The Rev. C. Emerson Miller, the Rev. Gilbert S. Cox and the Rev. T. H. Wiles gave short talks, commenting briefly on the work of the organization in bringing the business girls together and urging an attempt to increase membership and importance in the community.

The girls gave their gymnastic program under the direction of their instructor, Miss Nell Hudson, and many favorable comments were heard on this phase of the work.

The patronesses, assisted by the girls, served refreshments of grape juice and cake to the visitors present. No definite plans for the upbuilding of the organization were made but a meeting for this purpose will be called in the near future.

FIRST AID CLASS

14 NORMAL STUDENTS SIGN UP FOR RED CROSS WORK.

DR. ROWLETT, TEACHER

George Palfreyman, Athletic Director, Will Join Class, Too—Examination For Service May 25.

A Boy's First Aid class was organized at the State Normal school yesterday with Dr. H. S. Rowlett in charge. Fourteen of the Normal school students and the assistant athletic director, George Palfreyman, have already signed up for the work and will hold their first meeting at the Normal school about 4:15 o'clock this afternoon.

After this afternoon which will be devoted chiefly to organization, the class will meet at Doctor Rowlett's office at least once or twice a week for a series of lectures on the first aid work. Literature, pamphlets and charts have been sent for, this service being supplied by the government, and the work will be carried out along the lines designated by the United States Red Cross service.

Every effort will be made to have the boys ready for an examination by May 25. This examination will be given by a physician other than Doctor Rowlett, the instructor, and the boys who pass will be eligible for Red Cross service.

The number of boys in the first aid class is not limited and applicants will be considered until the lessons are fairly well under way. At the meeting this afternoon a president and a secretary will be chosen and plans will be made for a permanent organization.

The boys who have already signed up for the work of the Red Cross are: Viron Bird, Jess Boatman, Sam Chambers, Leslie Elam, Harry Gillis, Clement Hahn, James Halasey, Wade Henderson, Chauncey Saville, Harold Sawyers, Lee Scarlett, Kenneth Van Cleve, George Wamsley, Brice Wilkerson and George Palfreyman.

The work of the drilling squads recently organized by George Palfreyman, assistant athletic instructor, is reaching a high degree of perfection. Mr. Palfreyman has fifty men which he drills in three squads. The boys drill an hour a day and are becoming proficient in the first lessons of military tactics. Mr. Palfreyman, who is anxious to have the boys get as much of the work as possible this term, has not chosen any lieutenants or captains yet, but will do so when the drilling classes of the next term become proficient.

The boys enjoy the work immensely and under the influence of the war excitement really prefer the drilling to their regular gymnasium work.

HAVE NO NIGHT POLICEMAN

City Council and Mayor Will Ask the Merchants' Watchman to Do Work —Some Positions Filled.

The city will do away with the position of night policeman and will offer the merchants' watchman $10 a month to look after the interests of the city at night. This was decided at a secret meeting Mayor Robey and the City Council held last night.

The council in conference with the mayor also decided on some of the appointments to the various city offices. These appointments will be made at the regular meeting of the council Friday evening. They are as follows:

City Clerk—E. J. Howland.
City Attorney—Charles McCaffrey.
Street Commissioner—M. I. Woods.
Sexton—J. C. Chappel.
Fire Driver—Claud Stults.
City Physician—Not appointed.
Engineer—Joseph Reese.

The office of city marshal and street commissioner cannot be combined during the present term of the city marshal, as the marshal is an elective office and commissioner is an appointive office. Efforts will probably be made at the end of the term of the present marshal to combine these two offices.

Commercial Club Moving.

The Commercial Club quarters are being moved from the present place on the first floor of the Empire Theatre building to more commodious rooms up-stairs. The room vacated by the club will be used as a display room by the Maryville Electric Light and Power company.

FOR WINTER USE

ADEQUATE SUPPLY OF LATE VEGETABLES SHOULD BE PLANTED.

WILL BE ECONOMICAL

Cabbage, Carrotts, Parsnips, Turnips, and Rutabagas Are Especially Recommended

Washington, D. C., April 30.—There are a number of vegetables which, though grown in the summer, are usually planted for use in the following winter. An adequate supply of these produced in the home garden will do much to make the family's winter fare more attractive and more economical. Among garden products of this type may be named cabbage, carrots parsnips turnips and rutabagas.

Cabbage Should Be Grown.

Both early and late varieties of cabbage are grown extensively. In the north early cabbage may be planted in the hotbed during February and transplanted to the open ground as soon as the soil is ready to be worked. For a late crop it is customary to plant the seeds in a bed in the open ground in May or June and transplant them to the garden in July. For cabbage of this character the soil should be heavier and more retentive of moisture than for early cabbage which requires a rich warm soil in order to reach maturity quickly. For the late variety it is not desirable to have too rich a soil as the heads are liable to burst. Cabbages should be set in rows 30 to 36 inches apart the plants standing 14 to 18 inches apart in the rows.

How to Store Cabbage.

To store cabbage the heads should be buried in pits or placed in cellars. One method is to dig a trench about 18 inches deep and 3 feet wide and set the cabbage upright with the heads together and the roots imbedded in the soil. When cold weather comes the heads are covered lightly with straw and 3 or 4 inches of earth put in. Slight freezing does not injure cabbage but it should not be subjected to repeated freezing and thawing. Early cabbage cannot be kept as it does not stand hot weather well. It should be used soon after it has formed a solid head.

Some Cauliflower Hints.

Cauliflower is cultivated in much the same way as cabbage but when the heads begin to develop the leaves may be tied over them in order to exclude the light and keep the heads white. Cauliflower requires a rich moist soil and thrives best under irrigation. The tender heads of this vegetable are boiled with butter or cream and also used for pickling.

The roots of the parsnip are dug late in the fall and stored in cellars or pits, much as cabbage is, or else are allowed to remain where they are grown and are dug as required for use. All roots not dug during the winter, however, should be removed from the garden, as they will produce seed the second season and become of a weedy nature. When the parsnip has been allowed to run wild in this way the root is considered to be poisonous.

Sow Parsnip Seeds Early.

The seeds of parsnips should be sown as early as convenient in the spring in rows 18 inches to 3 feet apart in the row. A rich soil with frequent cultivation is necessary for success with this crop. The roots are boiled until tender and then cut in slices and browned in butter or roasted with meat in the same way that potatoes are.

Carrotts are cultivated in practically the same way as the parsnip, but are not thinned so much and are allowed to grow almost as thickly as planted. Those not used during the summer are dug in the autumn and stored in the same manner as parsnips or turnips. If there is a surplus it may be fed sparingly to horses and mules or cattle.

How to Use Turnips.

Turnips are used largely in combination with potatoes, cabbage and meat, in boiled dishes. They are also mashed like potatoes and are a desirable addition to the ordinary winter fare. They require a rich soil and may be grown either as early or late crop. For a late crop it is customary to sow the seeds broadcast on land from which some early crop has been removed. In the North this is generally done during July or August, but the usual time is later in the South. The plants are quite hardy and the roots need not be gathered until after several frosts. They may then be stored in a cellar or buried in a pit outside. Before storing, the tops should be removed. If an early crop is desired the seed should be sown in drills 12 to 18 inches apart as early in the spring as the condition of the soil will permit. After the plants appear they are thinned to about 3 inches. Two pounds of seed are required to plant an acre.

The rutabaga is quite similar to the turnip and is grown in much the same way. It requires more space, however, and a longer period for its growth. It is used to a considerable extent for stock feed and has the advantage of being quite hardy.

FAT IN OUR DIET

ONE OF THE MOST IMPORTANT CONSTITUENTS OF FOOD.

MAY USE SUBSTITUTES

Oleomargarine, Olive and Peanut Oils Are All Nutritious and Are Digestible.

Columbia, Mo., May 1.—"Fat is one of the most important constituents of our diet. The general sources of fats are meats, milk and its products, and vegetable oils. The most valuable single fat, as regards nutrition, seems to be butter fat. At the present time when the cost of living is constantly mounting, substitutes for his expensive fat should be considered," Dr. M. P. Ravenel of the department of preventive medicine of the University of Missouri declares.

"For many years oleomargarine has been on the market. There appears to have been a consistent campaign upon the part of some persons to discredit this product, and to limit its uses. Oleomargarine is an animal product made out of the cleanest and best fats. It can only be produced under Government inspection and only sold when marked and inspected and passed by the Bureau of Animal Industry. To some extent peanut and cotton seed oils are being put into oleomargarine.

"Oleomargarine is digestible, palatable and nutritious. Owing to the prohibitive tax on colored oleomargarine, it is sold uncolored. Persons can, however, buy the color and mix it in their own homes. This desire for colored material is an artificial one, many people thinking it means a richness. There is scarcely a pound of butter sold on the general market which is not colored. This is done to satisfy the demand for a yellow butter and to make cheap butters sell at a higher price. There is no excuse of course, for selling oleomargarine as butter, but the tax on it when colored is most unjust in view of the fact that butter is universally colored and a higher price obained for it than could be had if it were sold uncolored.

"Olive oil has for many years been considered the preferable one. It is at present being produced in California in large quantities and the quality is fully as good as that of the European product. However, the price is high. America produces a large quantity of peanuts and peanut oil. In addition, over a million gallons a year of peanut oil are imported. America leads the world in the production of cotton seed oil. Both of these oils when purified form valuable stuffs. Cotton seed oil has about the same food value as olive oil, and when refined can not be detected in salad dressings, for example, by the average person.

"Peanut oil is a bland sweet product fully as nourishing as olive oil and has everything to commend it. The use of both of these oils in cooking, for salad dressings, and other similar manner, is to be recommended in every way. There are on the market at the present time a number of preparations in which the cotton seed oil has been solidified.

"These substitutes for lard are nutritious and wholesome, and are to be recommended. The prejudices which have been persistently raised against these fatty foods, especially oleomargarine, have no foundation from the standpoint of public health."

Mr. Todd recently attended a meeting of the telephone men in Kansas City and it was unanimously decided to take steps at once. Mr. Todd was appointed as one of the members of the committee from Missouri for telephone companies.

Advertising is Americanism

America doesn't care who your father was—how much money you've got or what you might be. This Nation wants to know who you are and what you can do. Baronial robes, class, creed, and race distinction have been forgotten in this new world community of industry and brains. The humble craftsman patiently developing his invention needs no patron or king. Through the mighty force of advertising the new world hails him as its benefactor.

Advertising is Americanism—leveling all men to a plane of their use to their fellowkind—creating a peerage of worth instead of birth.

That advertising may grow to the greater uses of humanity is the purpose of the Thirteenth Annual Convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World to be held in the city of St. Louis—June 3rd to 7th, 1917.

Kansas City Stock Letter.

Kansas City Stock Yards, April 30.—Cattle receipts were 10,000 today, steers weak in spots, otherwise the market was strong, top $12.40. Hog supply was 10,000, market steady to 10c lower, top $15.85. Sheep and lambs sold 25c to 40c higher, lambs with wet fleeces at $16.90, receipts 5,000.

Beef Cattle.

The supply of pulp fed steers was only half as heavy today as on recent Monday's, and there will be few of that class after this week. Best natives here sold at $12.40, prime steers worth up to $12.75, short fed steers $10.25 to $11.75, a certain kind of steers to killers down to $9.00. Pulp steers did not average as good quality as usual today, sales mostly at $11.65 to $12.25. A few advance shipments from North Texas sold in the Quarantine division at $10.00 to $10.40, weights around 1,100 lbs., some 922lb Oklahoma steers in that division today at $9.90. Bulls sell up to $10.25, quarantine bulls $9.00, cows $10.50, veals $13.00. April receipts show a good increase over last April at all markets, due to forced marketing, and receipts are expected to drop off in May

Stockers and Feeders.

The war situation gives all futures a bullish stimulus, but not many cattle are wanted for immediate feeding, a few sales at $9.60 to $10.00, some near fat steers around $11.00, stock steers $8.00 to $10.00, stock cows and heifers $7.25 to $10.00, fancy bred heifers and calves up to $11.50.

Hogs.

Receipts are insufficient for the demand, but packers are determined to keep some sort of control over the market, and fight for concessions every day. A good order demand makes their task hard. Shippers paid $15.85 early today, packers' top $15.80, medium weights mostly $15.30 to $15.65, light weights $14.80 to $15.40, pigs $12.00 to $14.00. Receipts today include two car loads from California, a few shipments each from Colorado, Arizona, New Mexico, and Texas, besides shipments from nearby states. Missouri hogs brought the top price. Packers will be unable to accumulate any considerable stock of provisions in May and June, as is their custom, which apparently means that they will have to operate on a hand to mouth basis during the summer and fall months, putting the situation almost completely into the hands of sellers.

Sheep and Lambs.

The law of supply and demand is operating without restriction, in the sheep house, prices 25c to 40c higher today, and nearly a dollar above a week ago. A drizzling rain added weight to pelts, yet wooled lambs sold at $16.60 to $16.90, ewes worth $13.00 to $13.75, clipped ewes around $11.50, clipped lambs today $13.40, spring lambs recently at $15.75 to $16.00. Goats sold to killers today at $8.60 Texas is shipping nothing, and the feed lots are about emptied in every section.

TO FILL CRAIG'S PLACE

George B. Baker of Maryville, May Be Chosen by Gardner to Fill Place on Asylum Board.

Local Democrats are interested in the appointment of a successor to Anderson Craig, member of the state hospital board of managers, who died last week. The "regulars" are contending that the successor should be a Maryville man, or at least someone from a county north of St. Joseph, and are advising with George B. Baker, banker of Maryville, who resigned from the board two years ago because, as he wrote Governor Major, he was unwilling to be held responsible for the policies of the Major administration.

Baker is being urged to take the place made vacant by the death of his late fellow townsman, but as yet has not consented that his name be presented to the governor. Should he persist in refusal, he will be asked to suggest some resident of Maryville for the place, being assured that St. Joseph regulars will support the person so designated.

Whoever is appointed will hold the balance of power as between the Major and regular factions on the board, as each now, since the death of Senator Craig, has two members.

An effort is being exerted to have the appointment made soon, before the Thursday meeting of the board if possible, as it is known that Governor Gardner's three appointees had planned several important changes at the institution, which were to have been made of record at the May meeting. Should the new appointee not receive his commission by Thursday, it is believed the board will transact little besides routine business that day.—St. Joseph News-Press.

BABY WAR FACTOR

MEN, MONEY AND MUNITIONS NOT COMPARABLE TO IT.

AN INTENSIVE CAMPAIGN

Managers are Preaching That It Is Useless to Continue War Unless Future Generation Profits.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Washington, May 1. — Heretofore men, money and munitions have been heralded as the three prime necessities in the prosecution to a successful issue of a modern war, but today several million men are being told that these three factors are not to be compared in importance with his majesty—The American Baby.

For today marks the beginning of Baby Week. In every city and town in the United States the baby is being proclaimed as the most important element in the war situation. Under the general leadership of the United States Children's Bureau, organizations in all sections of the country this week are conducting an intensive campaign for the benefit of the baby. The managers of the campaign are preaching that it is useless to continue the war unless we have babies to fight for and to turn the country over to after the victory is won.

The purpose of Baby Week—today marks the beginning of the second national Baby Week in the United States—is to instill into the minds of all men and women the necessity for properly caring for American infants. The United States Children's Bureau declares that the future greatness of the country depends to a large extent on the care which is given the nation's children during their tender years.

The National Federation of Women's clubs, State boards of health, municipal health authorities, the American Medical association and many other bodies of importance are supporting the Children's Bureau in its campaign. Local committees have been formed in all the cities and principal towns to handle the Baby Week agitation and no effort is being spared to keep the welfare of the baby before the American public for one solid week.

The immediate purpose of the nation-wide campaign is to induce municipal authorities to provide better facilities for the conservaton of the greatest of all natural resources—the baby. The supporters of the movement urge special study by cities of infant mortality, with a view to decreasing it.

The providing of visiting physicians and visiting nurses to assist parents in the care of their children is urged. Better living conditions generally playgrounds, parks, protection o children on the streets from undesirable associates and, above all, from danger of contagion—in short, the complete welfare of the American infant—all these objects are sought to be advanced by the nation-wide Baby Week.

Miss Julia Lathrop, chief of the Children's Bureau, said today that babies and patriotism are inseparable. England, Canada and Germany have provided national baby weeks, she stated. There is to be a baby week in London next July and in other nations of the world special attention is being paid to the welfare of the child. According to Miss Lathrop, the leaders of the belligerent nations regard the baby question as of the utmost importance and are turning more and more attention to the problems it presents. The United States should be a leader in baby conservation, says Miss Lathrop.

Exquisite Little Marguerite Clark Comes to the Empire Theatre—Adaptation of Fairy Tale.

Exquisite little Marguerite Clark comes to the Empire Theatre tonight in an adaptation of the beloved tale "Snow White," in which she is being starred by the Famous Players Film Company. In the preparation of this Paramount Picture, the producers had the assistance and advice of Winthrop Ames, under whose personal direction Miss Clark scored a tremendous success in the stage presentation of the famous Grimm brothers' story.

Snow White is a motherless princess whose very existence arouses jealousy and hatred of Mary-Jane, her mother's former lady-in-waiting, who is the ugliest woman in the kingdom but aspires to sit upon the throne. She gives her heart to the Witch Hex in return for which she becomes very beautiful and finally wins the love of the king. While hunting, the king falls from his horse and is killed, leaving Mary-Jane — who has been rechristened Brangomar b ythe witch upon the throne.

The wicked Brangomar immediately forces little Snow White to work in the kitchen and takes all her lovely clothes away from her. When Snow White accidentally meets a young hunter in the woods, she becomes quite interested in him, and he is fascinated by her, though neither has any idea who the other is. So they are both dumb-founded when the young huntsman comes to Snow White's castle and presents a letter to the queen asking for the hand of Snow White—for he is the Prince Florimond who has been sent to ask for the hand of the little princess, whom he has never seen.

Brangomar, who believed that the prince was coming to sue for her hand, is furious when she finds that his note asks for Snow White. She decides to kill the little girl and forces old Berthold, a hunter and Snow White's devoted slave, to promise to kill the child. He is to bring her the heart of Snow White as proof of his act. Berthold takes Snow White into the woods and there tells her what he has been forced to promise and she tells him to kill a pig and take its heart back to the queen. While he is doing this, a little bird leads Snow White away to the cabin of the seven little dwarfs where she makes herself a home and wins their undying gratitude.

When the queen discovers that Snow White has escaped her, she tries to kill her with a magic comb and then inveigles her into biting a poisoned apple. Snow White falls prostrate and is discovered by the dwarfs who carry her body in state to the palace, where the queen rejoices until the furious Prince Florimund threatens to kill her. In the excitement, the dwarfs drop the casket in which there lies the body of Snow White and she awakens. The apple had stuck in her throat and she had not swallowed it. The witch turns Brangomar into a peacock and all ends happily.

GREAT IMPETUS TO FOOD DRIVE

60 FARMERS AND BUSINESS MEN AT RALLY TODAY.

R. A. KINNAIRD IS UNIVERSITY SPEAKER

Urges Formation of Community Clubs to Co-operate With University Extension Department.

An evidence of the hold which the food conservation idea has taken of the farmers of Nodaway county may be seen by the large crowd who have come in spite of bad roads from all districts to attend the food rally being held at the court house this afternoon.

R. A. Kinnaird, formerly head of the department of agriculture of the State Normal school, member of the Extension Division, represented the College of Agriculture of the University of Missouri at the meeting, and explained to the sixty farmers and business men in the audience, the purpose of the organization which he had come to Maryville to form.

Mr. Kinnaird's work in this section of the country will be to organize the counties of Atchison and Nodaway so that every section will be enlisted in the great food campaign. After conferring with the farmers at the meeting, he arranged the following speaking dates for the rest of the week, during which time he will visit the various towns and address the farmers in the vicinity:

Friday evening at 8 p. m., Clearmont.
Saturday afternoon at 3 p. m., Maryville.
Saturday evening at 8 p. m., Conception.
Sunday morning, 10 a. m., Arkoe.
Sunday afternoon, 3 p. m., Clyde.
Monday night, 8 p. m., Ravenwood.
Tuesday evening, 8 p. m., Parnell.
Wednesday evening, 8 p. m., Pickering.
Thursday evening, 8 p. m., Elmo.
Friday evening 8 p. m., Guilford.
Saturday afternoon, 3 p. m., Skidmore.

"It is our purpose," said Mr. Kinnaird, "to organize the farmers of the entire country in a campaign for increasing the food supply of the country so that we may not only supply ourselves with the necessary food stuffs but also contribute our surplus to the allied nations in their war with Germany.

"We sent out a call to all of the school districts of the state to select a committeeman to form a county organization which will be made permanent and also to encourage the starting of numerous Community clubs which we propose to organize.

"The farmers of this county from these Community clubs and the representatives of those clubs in the county organization will constitute a County farm bureau, and through this bureau, the Extension Department of the College of Agriculture will work to increase the production in the United States and also to conserve the food supply.

"It is necessary for the farmers to realize," added Mr. Kinnaird, "that the men behind the plow is just as essential to the welfare for the nation as the man behind the gun, and the increased crop production made possible by the interest of the farmers will do as much toward bringing a sure victory as the efficient training of soldiers."

Program Put On By Business Girls A Great Success — Patronesses Serve Refreshments.

The invitation of the Business Girls to the residents of Maryville to attend the open session of the Business Girls' club met with a hearty response, more than 150 persons being present at the program.

Mrs. I. E. Tulloch, one of the patronesses of the organization gave the welcome address and Mrs. L. E. White gave a talk on the aims and prospects of the Business Girls' club in Maryville. The Rev. C. Emerson Miller, the Rev. Gilbert S. Cox and the Rev. T. H. Wiles gave short talks, commenting briefly on the work of the organization in bringing the business girls together and urging an attempt to increase membership and importance in the community.

The girls gave their gymnastic program under the direction of their instructor, Miss Nell Hudson, and many favorable comments were heard on this phase of the work.

The patronesses, assisted by the girls, served refreshments of grape juice and cake to the visitors present. No definite plans for the upbuilding of the organization were made but a meeting for this purpose will be called in the near future.

14 NORMAL STUDENTS SIGN UP FOR RED CROSS WORK.

A Boy's First Aid class was organized at the State Normal school yesterday with Dr. H. S. Rowlett in charge. Fourteen of the Normal school students and the assistant athletic director, George Palfreyman, have already signed up for the work and will hold their first meeting at the Normal school about 4:15 o'clock this afternoon.

After this afternoon which will be devoted chiefly to organization, the class will meet at Doctor Rowlett's office at least once or twice a week for a series of lectures on the first aid work. Literature, pamphlets and charts have been sent for, this service being supplied by the government, and the work will be carried out along the lines designated by the United States Red Cross service.

Every effort will be made to have the boys ready for an examination by May 25. This examination will be given by a physician other than Doctor Rowlett, the instructor, and the boys who pass will be eligible for Red Cross service.

The number of boys in the first aid class is not limited and applicants will be considered until the lessons are fairly well under way. At the meeting this afternoon a president and a secretary will be chosen and plans will be made for a permanent organization.

The boys who have already signed up for the work of the Red Cross are: Viron Bird, Jess Boatman, Sam Chambers, Leslie Elam, Harry Gillis, Clement Hahn, James Halasey, Wade Henderson, Chauncey Saville, Harold Sawyers, Lee Scarlett, Kenneth Van Cleve, George Wamsley, Brice Wilkerson and George Palfreyman.

The work of the drilling squads recently organized by George Palfreyman, assistant athletic instructor, is reaching a high degree of perfection. Mr. Palfreyman has fifty men which he drills in three squads. The boys drill an hour a day and are becoming proficient in the first lessons of military tactics. Mr. Palfreyman, who is anxious to have the boys get as much of the work as possible this term, has not chosen any lieutenants or captains yet, but will do so when the drilling classes of the next term become proficient.

The boys enjoy the work immensely and under the influence of the war excitement really prefer the drilling to their regular gymnasium work.

HAVE NO NIGHT POLICEMAN

City Council and Mayor Will Ask the Merchants' Watchman to Do Work —Some Positions Filled.

The city will do away with the position of night policeman and will offer the merchants' watchman $10 a month to look after the interests of the city at night. This was decided at a secret meeting Mayor Robey and the City Council held last night.

The council in conference with the mayor also decided on some of the appointments to the various city offices. These appointments will be made at the regular meeting of the council Friday evening. They are as follows:

City Clerk—E. J. Howland.
City Attorney—Charles McCaffrey.
Street Commissioner—M. I. Woods.
Sexton—J. C. Chappel.
Fire Driver—Claud Stults.
City Physician—Not appointed.
Engineer—Joseph Reese.

The office of city marshal and street commissioner cannot be combined during the present term of the city marshal, as the marshal is an elective office and commissioner is an appointive office. Efforts will probably be made at the end of the term of the present marshal to combine these two offices.

Commercial Club Moving.

The Commercial Club quarters are being moved from the present place on the first floor of the Empire Theatre building to more commodious rooms up-stairs. The room vacated by the club will be used as a display room by the Maryville Electric Light and Power company.

FOR WINTER USE

ADEQUATE SUPPLY OF LATE VEGETABLES SHOULD BE PLANTED.

WILL BE ECONOMICAL

Cabbage, Carrotts, Parsnips, Turnips, and Rutabagas Are Especially Recommended

Washington, D. C., April 30.—There are a number of vegetables which, though grown in the summer, are usually planted for use in the following winter. An adequate supply of these produced in the home garden will do much to make the family's winter fare more attractive and more economical. Among garden products of this type may be named cabbage, carrots parsnips turnips and rutabagas.

Cabbage Should Be Grown.

Both early and late varieties of cabbage are grown extensively. In the north early cabbage may be planted in the hotbed during February and transplanted to the open ground as soon as the soil is ready to be worked. For a late crop it is customary to plant the seeds in a bed in the open ground in May or June and transplant them to the garden in July. For cabbage of this character the soil should be heavier and more retentive of moisture than for early cabbage which requires a rich warm soil in order to reach maturity quickly. For the late variety it is not desirable to have too rich a soil as the heads are liable to burst. Cabbages should be set in rows 30 to 36 inches apart the plants standing 14 to 18 inches apart in the rows.

How to Store Cabbage.

To store cabbage the heads should be buried in pits or placed in cellars. One method is to dig a trench about 18 inches deep and 3 feet wide and set the cabbage upright with the heads together and the roots imbedded in the soil. When cold weather comes the heads are covered lightly with straw and 3 or 4 inches of earth put in. Slight freezing does not injure cabbage but it should not be subjected to repeated freezing and thawing. Early cabbage cannot be kept as it does not stand hot weather well. It should be used soon after it has formed a solid head.

Some Cauliflower Hints.

Cauliflower is cultivated in much the same way as cabbage but when the heads begin to develop the leaves may be tied over them in order to exclude the light and keep the heads white. Cauliflower requires a rich moist soil and thrives best under irrigation. The tender heads of this vegetable are boiled with butter or cream and also used for pickling.

The roots of the parsnip are dug late in the fall and stored in cellars or pits, much as cabbage is, or else are allowed to remain where they are grown and are dug as required for use. All roots not dug during the winter, however, should be removed from the garden, as they will produce seed the second season and become of a weedy nature. When the parsnip has been allowed to run wild in this way the root is considered to be poisonous.

Sow Parsnip Seeds Early.

The seeds of parsnips should be sown as early as convenient in the spring in rows 18 inches to 3 feet apart in the row. A rich soil with frequent cultivation is necessary for success with this crop. The roots are boiled until tender and then cut in slices and browned in butter or roasted with meat in the same way that potatoes are.

Carrotts are cultivated in practically the same way as the parsnip, but are not thinned so much and are allowed to grow almost as thickly as planted. Those not used during the summer are dug in the autumn and stored in the same manner as parsnips or turnips. If there is a surplus it may be fed sparingly to horses and mules or cattle.

How to Use Turnips.

Turnips are used largely in combination with potatoes, cabbage and meat, in boiled dishes. They are also mashed like potatoes and are a desirable addition to the ordinary winter fare. They require a rich soil and may be grown either as early or late crop. For a late crop it is customary to sow the seeds broadcast on land from which some early crop has been removed. In the North this is generally done during July or August, but the usual time is later in the South. The plants are quite hardy and the roots need not be gathered until after several frosts. They may then be stored in a cellar or buried in a pit outside. Before storing, the tops should be removed. If an early crop is desired the seed should be sown in drills 12 to 18 inches apart as early in the spring as the condition of the soil will permit. After the plants appear they are thinned to about 3 inches. Two pounds of seed are required to plant an acre.

The rutabaga is quite similar to the turnip and is grown in much the same way. It requires more space, however, and a longer period for its growth. It is used to a considerable extent for stock feed and has the advantage of being quite hardy.

FAT IN OUR DIET

ONE OF THE MOST IMPORTANT CONSTITUENTS OF FOOD.

Oleomargarine, Olive and Peanut Oils Are All Nutritious and Are Digestible.

Columbia, Mo., May 1.—"Fat is one of the most important constituents of our diet. The general sources of fats are meats, milk and its products, and vegetable oils. The most valuable single fat, as regards nutrition, seems to be butter fat. At the present time when the cost of living is constantly mounting, substitutes for his expensive fat should be considered," Dr. M. P. Ravenel of the department of preventive medicine of the University of Missouri declares.

"For many years oleomargarine has been on the market. There appears to have been a consistent campaign upon the part of some persons to discredit this product, and to limit its uses. Oleomargarine is an animal product made out of the cleanest and best fats. It can only be produced under Government inspection and only sold when marked and inspected and passed by the Bureau of Animal Industry. To some extent peanut and cotton seed oils are being put into oleomargarine.

"Oleomargarine is digestible, palatable and nutritious. Owing to the prohibitive tax on colored oleomargarine, it is sold uncolored. Persons can, however, buy the color and mix it in their own homes. This desire for colored material is an artificial one, many people thinking it means a richness. There is scarcely a pound of butter sold on the general market which is not colored. This is done to satisfy the demand for a yellow butter and to make cheap butters sell at a higher price. There is no excuse of course, for selling oleomargarine as butter, but the tax on it when colored is most unjust in view of the fact that butter is universally colored and a higher price obained for it than could be had if it were sold uncolored.

"Olive oil has for many years been considered the preferable one. It is at present being produced in California in large quantities and the quality is fully as good as that of the European product. However, the price is high. America produces a large quantity of peanuts and peanut oil. In addition, over a million gallons a year of peanut oil are imported. America leads the world in the production of cotton seed oil. Both of these oils when purified form valuable stuffs. Cotton seed oil has about the same food value as olive oil, and when refined can not be detected in salad dressings, for example, by the average person.

"Peanut oil is a bland sweet product fully as nourishing as olive oil and has everything to commend it. The use of both of these oils in cooking, for salad dressings, and other similar manner, is to be recommended in every way. There are on the market at the present time a number of preparations in which the cotton seed oil has been solidified.

"These substitutes for lard are nutritious and wholesome, and are to be recommended. The prejudices which have been persistently raised against these fatty foods, especially oleomargarine, have no foundation from the standpoint of public health."

Advertising is Americanism

America doesn't care who your father was—how much money you've got or what you might be. This Nation wants to know who you are and what you can do. Baronial robes, class, creed, and race distinction have been forgotten in this new world community of industry and brains. The humble craftsman patiently developing his invention needs no patron or king. Through the mighty force of advertising the new world hails him as its benefactor.

Advertising is Americanism—leveling all men to a plane of their use to their fellowkind—creating a peerage of worth instead of birth.

That advertising may grow to the greater uses of humanity is the purpose of the Thirteenth Annual Convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World to be held in the city of St. Louis—June 3rd to 7th, 1917.

Kansas City Stock Letter.

Kansas City Stock Yards, April 30.—Cattle receipts were 16,000 today, steers weak in spots, otherwise the market was strong, top $12.40. Hog supply was 10,000, market steady to 10c lower, top $15.85. Sheep and lambs sold 25c to 40c higher, lambs with wet fleeces at $16.90, receipts 5,000.

Beef Cattle.

The supply of pulp fed steers was only half as heavy today as on recent Monday's, and there will be few of that class after this week. Best natives here sold at $12.40, prime steers worth up to $12.75, short fed steers $10.25 to $11.75, a certain kind of steers to killers down to $9.00. Pulp steers did not average as good quality as usual today, sales mostly at $11.65 to $12.25. A few advance shipments from North Texas sold in the Quarantine division at $10.00 to $10.40, weights around 1,100 lbs., some 922lb Oklahoma steers in that division today at $9.90. Bulls sell up to $10.25, quarantine bulls $9.00, cows $10.50, veals $13.00. April receipts show a good increase over last April at all markets, due to forced marketing, and receipts are expected to drop off in May

Stockers and Feeders.

The war situation gives all futures a bullish stimulus, but not many cattle are wanted for immediate feeding, a few sales at $9.60 to $10.00, some near fat steers around $11.00, stock steers $8.00 to $10.00, stock cows and heifers $7.25 to $10.00, fancy bred heifers and calves up to $11.50.

Hogs.

Receipts are insufficient for the demand, but packers are determined to keep some sort of control over the market, and fight for concessions every day. A good order demand makes their task hard. Shippers paid $15.85 early today, packers' top $15.80, medium weights mostly $15.30 to $15.65, light weights $14.80 to $15.40, pigs $12.00 to $14.00. Receipts today include two car loads from California, a few shipments each from Colorado, Arizona, New Mexico, and Texas, besides shipments from nearby states. Missouri hogs brought the top price. Packers will be unable to accumulate any considerable stock of provisions in May and June, as is their custom, which apparently means that they will have to operate on a hand to mouth basis during the summer and fall months, putting the situation almost completely into the hands of sellers.

Sheep and Lambs.

The law of supply and demand is operating without restriction, in the sheep house, prices 25c to 40c higher today, and nearly a dollar above a week ago. A drizzling rain added weight to pelts, yet wooled lambs sold at $16.60 to $16.90, ewes worth $13.00 to $13.75, clipped ewes around $11.50, clipped lambs today $13.40, spring lambs recently at $15.75 to $16.00. Goats sold to killers today at $8.60 Texas is shipping nothing, and the feed lots are about emptied in every section.

George B. Baker of Maryville, May Be Chosen by Gardner to Fill Place on Asylum Board.

Local Democrats are interested in the appointment of a successor to Anderson Craig, member of the state hospital board of managers, who died last week. The "regulars" are contending that the successor should be a Maryville man, or at least someone from a county north of St. Joseph, and are advising with George B. Baker, banker of Maryville, who resigned from the board two years ago because, as he wrote Governor Major, he was unwilling to be held responsible for the policies of the Major administration.

Baker is being urged to take the place made vacant by the death of his late fellow townsman, but as yet has not consented that his name be presented to the governor. Should he persist in refusal, he will be asked to suggest some resident of Maryville for the place, being assured that St. Joseph regulars will support the person so designated.

Whoever is appointed will hold the balance of power as between the Major and regular factions on the board, as each now, since the death of Senator Craig, has two members.

An effort is being exerted to have the appointment made soon, before the Thursday meeting of the board if possible, as it is known that Governor Gardner's three appointees had planned several important changes at the institution, which were to have been made of record at the May meeting. Should the new appointee not receive his commission by Thursday, it is believed the board will transact little besides routine business that day.—St. Joseph News-Press.

MEN, MONEY AND MUNITIONS NOT COMPARABLE TO IT.

AN INTENSIVE CAMPAIGN

Managers are Preaching That It Is Useless to Continue War Unless Future Generation Profits.

Special to The Democrat-Forum.

Washington, May 1. — Heretofore men, money and munitions have been heralded as the three prime necessities in the prosecution to a successful issue of a modern war, but today several million men are being told that these three factors are not to be compared in importance with his majesty—The American Baby.

For today marks the beginning of Baby Week. In every city and town in the United States the baby is being proclaimed as the most important element in the war situation. Under the general leadership of the United States Children's Bureau, organizations in all sections of the country this week are conducting an intensive campaign for the benefit of the baby. The managers of the campaign are preaching that it is useless to continue the war unless we have babies to fight for and to turn the country over to after the victory is won.

The purpose of Baby Week—today marks the beginning of the second national Baby Week in the United States—is to instill into the minds of all men and women the necessity for properly caring for American infants. The United States Children's Bureau declares that the future greatness of the country depends to a large extent on the care which is given the nation's children during their tender years.

The National Federation of Women's clubs, State boards of health, municipal health authorities, the American Medical association and many other bodies of importance are supporting the Children's Bureau in its campaign. Local committees have been formed in all the cities and principal towns to handle the Baby Week agitation and no effort is being spared to keep the welfare of the baby before the American public for one solid week.

The immediate purpose of the nation-wide campaign is to induce municipal authorities to provide better facilities for the conservaton of the greatest of all natural resources—the baby. The supporters of the movement urge special study by cities of infant mortality, with a view to decreasing it.

The providing of visiting physicians and visiting nurses to assist parents in the care of their children is urged. Letter living conditions generally, playgrounds, parks, protection o children on the streets from undesirable associates and, above all, from danger of contagion—in short, the complete welfare of the American infant—all these objects are sought to be advanced by the nation-wide Baby Week.

Miss Julia Lathrop, chief of the Children's Bureau, said today that babies and patriotism are inseparable. England, Canada and Germany have provided national baby weeks, she stated. There is to be a baby week in London next July and in other nations of the world special attention is being paid to the welfare of the child. According to Miss Lathrop, the leaders of the belligerent nations regard the baby question as of the utmost importance and are turning more and more attention to the problems it presents. The United States should be a leader in baby conservation, says Miss Lathrop.

SYNOPSIS OF SNOW WHITE

Exquisite Little Marguerite Clark Comes to the Empire Theatre—Adaptation of Fairy Tale.

Exquisite little Marguerite Clark comes to the Empire Theatre tonight in an adaptation of the beloved tale "Snow White," in which she is being starred by the Famous Players Film Company. In the preparation of this Paramount Picture, the producers had the assistance and advice of Winthrop Ames, under whose personal direction Miss Clark scored a tremendous success in the stage presentation of the famous Grimm brothers' story.

Snow White is a motherless princess whose very existence arouses jealousy and hatred of Mary-Jane, her mother's former lady-in-waiting, who is the ugliest woman in the kingdom but aspires to sit upon the throne. She gives her heart to the Witch Hex in return for which she becomes very beautiful and finally wins the love of the king. While hunting, the king falls from his horse and is killed, leaving Mary-Jane — who has been rechristened Brangomar b ythe witch upon the throne.

The wicked Brangomar immediately forces little Snow White to work in the kitchen and takes all her lovely clothes away from her. When Snow White accidentally meets a young hunter in the woods, she becomes quite interested in him, and he is fascinated by her, though neither has any idea who the other is. So they are both dumb-founded when the young huntsman comes to Snow White's castle and presents a letter to the queen asking for the hand of Snow White—for he is the Prince Florimond who has been sent to ask for the hand of the little princess, whom he has never seen.

Brangomar, who believed that the prince was coming to sue for her hand, is furious when she finds that his note asks for Snow White. She decides to kill the little girl and forces old Berthold, a hunter and Snow White's devoted slave, to promise to kill the child. He is to bring her the heart of Snow White as proof of his act. Berthold takes Snow White into the woods and there tells her what he has been forced to promise and she tells him to kill a pig and take its heart back to the queen. While he is doing this, a little bird leads Snow White away to the cabin of the seven little dwarfs where she makes herself a home and wins their undying gratitude.

When the queen discovers that Snow White has escaped her, she tries to kill her with a magic comb and then inveigles her into biting a poisoned apple. Snow White falls prostrate and is discovered by the dwarfs who carry her body in state to the palace, where the queen rejoices until the furious Prince Florimund threatens to kill her. In the excitement, the dwarfs drop the casket in which there lies the body of Snow White and she awakens. The apple had stuck in her throat and she had not swallowed it. The witch turns Brangomar into a peacock and all ends happily.
